

Texas Judge Reprieved in Mock Trial

Judge W. E. (Bill) Richburg, of Dallas came to Hope Monday, was formerly sentenced to hang by Judge James H. Pilkinton, but was given a reprieve as long as he said only kind things about Hope in the future.

His crime was for "desecrating the Sweet Name of the City of Hope." Following the mock trial Judge Richburg and his party were given souvenirs to take back to Texas.

It all started earlier this year when Judge Richburg told a prisoner in his court that driving a stolen auto to Hope, Ark. was punishment enough. "I've been to Hope," the Judge said. Then his troubles really started.

Former Hope residents living in Dallas started calling after seeing the remark in the Dallas News. Before long the Judge probably wished he had never heard of this Southwest Arkansas City.

A former Texan, Bob Daniels, contacted the Judge who consented to speak at a joint meeting of the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs. There were Rotarians present, too.

The Judge was met yesterday at the City Limits where he was arrested for the third time, once at Irving, Texas and again at Texarkana Sunday. He was taken to jail until time for trial.

Featured in the trial were "Hanging Judge" Pilkinton; Prosecutor John L. Wilson, and Attorney Albert Graves who was assigned to Mr. Richburg's defense. The visiting Judge never had a chance.

Ironically the folks of Hope were kinder to the judge than his own witnesses, some 25 Dallas Texans who made underhanded remarks about the judge when supposedly testifying in his behalf. They testified that he likes girls, that he gambled quite a bit with cards but they had never seen him shoot dice. They also vowed he liked beer pretty well but they had never seen him drink champagne. His own Methodist Minister confirmed the testimony. The Texans declared it was their duty to see that Judge Richburg hanged after being banished from Dallas County for 40 hours to "clear up the situation in Arkansas."

The poor visiting judge never had a chance. He was formally sentenced but was saved by High Court Justice George Walden who read the decree from a well known mail order catalogue. Thus he was given 5 years probation providing he says only kind things about Hope in the future.

"Let me assure you the remark about Hope was done in fun and this city had received wonderful publicity which hasn't hurt you," Judge Richburg told the 225 persons present at the Hotel Barlow luncheon.

"I've never had a more pleasant time in my life nor met more good people than here in Hope," the Judge assured. Then the Judge went on to paint a rosy picture of praise about Hope and the State of Arkansas.

Lion President Jim James presented Mayor Frank Douglas welcomed the visitors. The Texans presented him with a 10-pound watermelon which the Mayor called a cucumber.

At the end the visitors were given a giant apple pie and souvenirs. Everybody had a wonderful time and the honor of all was satisfied.

McCaskill RCI to Study Series

The McCaskill RCI will devote two meetings to discussing the Arkansas Future Series which is being carried on throughout Arkansas during the month of May.

The first two subjects, "Arkansas Today" and "A Changing Arkansas" will be discussed Friday at the Community Center, following a covered dish supper at 7:30 p.m. Leaders for this meeting will be Mrs. Leon Prescott and Mrs. Cloyd Bittick.

The last two topics, "A Developing Arkansas" and "Arkansas Future" will be studied the night of Wednesday, May 24.

U. S. Trying to Open Schools
in Virginia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Justice Department today drew heavily upon its actions in the Little Rock, Ark., and New Orleans, La., school segregation cases to back up its bid to enter the case of the Prince Edward County, Va., schools as a complaint.

A Justice Department attorney, St. John Barrett, said the government was seeking to enter the case because it felt "processes of a U.S. court are being frustrated and we should take action."

Barrett resumed arguments in U.S. District Court here on the between the government's entering the 10-year-old school racial case. Prince Edward schools have been shut for two years in the face of court-ordered desegregation.

Judge Oren R. Lewis questioned Barrett closely on the difference between the government's entering the case as a friend of the court and as a plaintiff.

"We are not urging the right to bring desegregation cases," said Barrett, special assistant to the assistant U.S. attorney general for civil rights. "We claim only the right to have our claim heard since the plaintiffs have obtained their decree."

At one point Lewis observed that a major distinction between the Prince Edward and the Little Rock situations was the absence of force in the Virginia county.

The government attorney said "orders of federal courts can be nullified by more subtle ways" than placing troops around a school to prevent the entrance of Negro students—as in Little Rock.

Tells How Nazis Killed
Children

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM (AP)—A French scientist who survived the Auschwitz death mill told the court trying Adolf Eichmann today how the Nazis degraded tiny Jewish children in France before shipping them to the gas chambers.

Prof. Georges Wellers, director of the French National Medical Research Laboratory and a professor at the Sorbonne, mesmerized the court and audience with his account.

Wellers did not mention Eichmann's name, but the Israeli prosecution preceded the testimony with documents showing Eichmann's Berlin office organized the French camps as part of "the final solution of the Jewish problem."

As a medical man, Wellers could move about the Drancy camp in France. He said he saw 4,000 children—many as young as 2, 3, and 4 years old and their parents already at Auschwitz—abused and then deported to join their families only in death.

Wellers himself was shipped to Auschwitz on June 30, 1944. Six months later he was evacuated to Buchenwald because of the advance of the Soviet armies, and American troops liberated him there.

The witness said none of the adults at that time knew exactly what was happening to those deported to Auschwitz—but from the treatment of the children they all were certain the Jews of all ages were doomed.

Wellers said the deportations from France reached a peak in the summer of 1942, when the children were brought to Drancy and then shipped out. He added that altogether he saw between 40,000 and 50,000 Jews deported.

Angry Rivers Giving State More Trouble

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas' weather spotlight turned on swollen rivers today as residents of flood-battered Harrison and tornado-smashed communities started to rebuild from weekend storms which left nine dead and two missing.

Water in the lower White and Ouachita Rivers continued to rise but major flood threats on the Little Red and Black Rivers in north central Arkansas appeared to be over.

Thousands of acres already are under water, however. The U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said the Little Red River crested at 39.64 feet Monday and was falling today. Flood stage is 30 feet.

The Black crested at 28.0 feet at Black Rock Monday and was recorded at 27.2 feet at 6 a.m. today.

The White River was reported at 30.4 feet, 4.4 above flood stage at Newport, but the Weather Bureau said it was cresting.

At Clarendon, a crest of 20.32 feet is expected May 16. Flood stage is 26 feet, but a 32 foot crest would flood little except unoccupied lowland areas.

The Ouachita River fell 4.1 feet at Arkadelphia during the past 24 hours and was well under flood stage there. At Camden, however, a crest of 32 feet, six over flood stage, is expected Friday.

Here again, most flooding will be in pasture and timber areas.

A number of families have been evacuated in north Arkansas, but most of the flooding there also is farm and timber land.

The Small Business Administration Monday declared Baxter, Boone, Marion and Garland counties disaster areas. An SBA agent was to begin taking 3% per cent loan applications today in Harrison, the hardest-hit of the towns. Harrison suffered $10 million in damage.

Two were killed when Crooked Creek overflowed there Sunday and two still are missing.

In all, floods and tornadoes killed nine in Arkansas between Friday and Sunday.

Tornado alerts were lifted over the state last night and the Weather Bureau in Little Rock said Arkansas should be free from threatening weather today. The forecast called for partly cloudy and cooler.

The Little Red River roared over an 8-mile-long levee at Judsonia yesterday, inundating 20,000 acres of farm land. The river crested at 39.64 feet, highest in 12 years. Twelve families were evacuated and 100 more braced for flood conditions.

The Black River overflowed in thousands of acres of bottomland in the Walnut Ridge - Black Rock area and one man was missing. He was Raymond Mize, 60, of Walnut Ridge, who went to check his riverside cabin near Black Rock Monday and did not return.

Police found his car on a rural road and his boat overturned near the flooded cabin. A search was underway.

Corning suffered from high water Monday. The Black River poured three feet of floodwater in some streets, but no heavy damage was reported, the sheriff's office said. The Black was expected to crest today.

The Farmers Home Administration declared eight counties disaster areas. They are Boone, Clay, Craighead, Independence, Jackson, Lawrence, Marion and White.

A spokesman said 3 per cent loans would be made available to farmers who lost livestock in the floods.

CHARLESTON, Ark. (AP)—Police said Robert E. Cook, 25, shot his wife and father-in-law to death Monday, then turned his automatic shotgun on himself.

Deputy Sheriff M. O. King arrived at the home of Raymond Decker, 41, just as Cook killed himself. The officer found Mrs. Joyce Cook, 23, and Decker dead on the floor.

King said Mrs. Cook had asked a neighbor to telephone the Franklin County Sheriff's office after Cook had threatened to kill her. The neighbor told police Cook took their four-year-old son away from the house.

Neither the boy nor the couple's three-month-old daughter were injured.

Sheriff Bob Pritchard said the Cooks separated three weeks ago and divorce proceedings were started last Thursday.

Deputy Coroner William Rice ruled murder and suicide.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Charlie Medlock, a Negro who died Sunday, was 112 years old, relatives said.

A daughter with whom he lived, Mrs. Thelma Murry, said he was 89 when he moved in with her 23 years ago.

She said his mother, Mrs. Mandy Medlock of Carlisle, Ark., lived to be 128 years old.

Medlock had been blind for the last 11 years.

Would Exclude Theater Owners

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Motion picture theater operators should not be allowed to enter a case seeking pay television for the Little Rock area, Midwest Video Corp. of Little Rock contends.

Midwest filed a motion Monday before the Public Service Commission seeking to prevent the theater owners from participating in a scheduled PSC hearing next Monday.

Midwest argued that the only question involved is that of a utility—Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.—furnishing service which Midwest asked. Several theater groups have sought to block the pay TV service, contending that anything to do with pay television is up to the Federal Communications Commission and not the state agency.

Get Back to Hard Work

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The shouting is over and the nation's homage is his, but astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., isn't resting on his space laurels.

Shepard, America's first man in space, promised "we plan to press ahead with the best possible speed."

The next major mission is rock-landing one of the seven astronauts into orbit around the earth. The orbit flight is scheduled for sometime this year. But space agency chief James E. Webb cautioned: "If we are to have our spectacular successes—with even larger and ever more complex rockets, the early test flights unmanned of course, will involve some spectacular failures."

But the applause and accolades Monday were for a "spectacular success"—Navy Cmdr. Shepard's 15-mile voyage into space.

It was a day of pride and sentiment, tribute and humor for the calm man who—as one of his superiors put it—"really broke the ice for all of us."

He was decorated by the President, lauded by Congress, cheered by thousands as he was driven through the capital—and probably as important as any of the honors to him—was kissed by his family.

Also, in a nationally televised news conference, he gave a capsule view of his ride through space.

Last Friday morning, Shepard sat for more than four hours in the loneliness of his capsule before the rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral for his 15-minute flight to glory.

Flanked on the news conference platform by his fellow astronauts and the leaders of the nation's space program, Shepard told his story with composure and wit.

As he unfolded the details of his flight in response to questions, Shepard repeatedly drew applause from newsmen—an unusual tribute.

The applause was not so much for the events of the flight, which he showed a tendency to underdramatize, for his forthright way of handling queries. When he was asked if after he was picked to make the first ride into space he wished he was "in something else other than Project Mercury," Shepard replied: "That is the easiest question I have heard today. No."

Warns Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—White settlers warned today they expect a revival of the Mau Mau terrorism that swept this British East African colony in 1952-60.

After attending the funeral for a farmer's wife who was hacked to death by Africans, 500 grim-faced settlers and their wives, many carrying pistols, decided to send a delegation to Gov. Sir Patrick Denison.

"We are going to tell the governor in plain, simple language what evidence we have about the developing Mau Mau attack," one settler said.

Sees Increase in Space Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., predicted today a 25 per cent increase in space spending as an outgrowth of last week's successful manned flight.

Kerr, who heads the Senate space committee, told a group of Oklahoma members of the National Association of Broadcasters that he foresees a sharp increase in the $1,235,000,000 allotted to space activities in the years new budget.

Rebels Refuse to Deal at Laos Peace Parley

By DONALD E. HUTH

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Rebel officials refused to deal with members of the International Control Commission for Laos at an initial meeting at Hien Heup today, a Laotian military authority said. This further confused the outlook for the 14-nation conference on Laos due to open in Geneva Friday.

"The other side (the rebels) said they could not recognize the ICC," said Lt. Col. Udon Samanikone, spokesman of the royal government's military delegation to the cease-fire talks. "They said they had no instructions."

Indian, Canadian and Polish military officers of the three-nation commission, which is seeking to certify the cease-fire, proclaimed last Wednesday, declined comment on their return by helicopter from Hien Heup, the negotiating site 55 miles north of Vientiane. They said they would make their report to the commission's Indian chairman, Samar Sen.

The possibility that the Geneva conference might be postponed was raised by rebel objections to the arrival of the truce commission Monday. The United States, Britain and France have said they will not take part in the conference until the commission guarantees the armistice is in effect.

Sananikone said representatives of the Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma even refused a letter from the ICC group in Vientiane to its ICC counterpart in rebel-held Xieng Khouang.

The colonel said the government requested another meeting for Wednesday and expected an answer later.

The initial refusal to Pathet Lao-neutralist group to deal with ICC was not seen as a crisis. But it did add further delay and confusion to the situation that continues to fluctuate under the "touchy" de facto cease-fire.

Although no major battles have been reported to indicate any all-out rebel offensive, there have been serious incidents.

The most serious is a Pathet Lao attack, with artillery, on Padong, key center for training and supply of fierce Meo Mountain tribesmen who are the best fighters the government has. Padong is a major guerrilla base located just 20 miles southeast of Xieng Khouang.

There have been other lesser incidents.

The commission had asked to sit in on the lagging peace talks between Premier Prince Boun Oum's regime and the pro-Communist rebels in an effort to speed up a formal armistice.

Evidence Withheld, Prosecutor Says

HAIRDY, Ark. (AP)—A prosecuting attorney today blamed evidence in a murder case for revenge or attempted suppression the slaying Sunday night of 27-year-old Earl Masterson of near Hardy.

Prosecutor W. E. Billingsley of Melbourne wouldn't elaborate, but said that Masterson was to have been a witness at an inquiry today in the killing of Clay Orr at a housing project about 14 months ago.

Masterson was convicted of manslaughter in Orr's death and sentenced to two years in prison but had won a new trial.

Billingsley had called a new investigation before the retrial because he said he felt there might be some new evidence in the case.

Masterson was killed by a shotgun blast fired through a window. It struck him in the face. His wife, who also was in the room, was not hit.

Judge Upheld in Trial Refusal

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court refused today to order Pulaski Circuit Judge William J. Kirby to set an immediate trial for three Negroes charged in the rape of a 16-year-old white girl.

The court's unanimous opinion said such an order would be useless until a recent ruling by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is clarified. The federal court ordered a new trial for Luther Bailey, a Negro sentenced to die for rape, on grounds that Negroes are systematically excluded from juries in the circuit court.

The opinion also noted the intention of Thad Williams, attorney for the Negroes, to seek to quash the jury panel if a trial were ordered.

"We issue writs of mandamus to require a court to act but not to control its discretion," Justice Ed McFaddin wrote in the opinion.

Kirby, after the Bailey decision, suspended all jury trials for Negroes until the situation is cleared up. The attorney general's office has said the decision will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Arkansas high court took note of the fact that Negroes are not excluded from juries in Kirby's 1st Division Court, although Negroes do not serve on juries in the 2nd and 3rd Divisions, which try civil cases.

"Judge Kirby has no control over jury panels outside his own division," McFaddin wrote. "The three divisions of Pulaski Circuit Court are as separate as though they were in different counties."

The accused Negroes are Mary-in, Aron Hamblid, Troy Alexander and Raleigh Williams. In a Washington County case, the Supreme Court reversed part of the verdict in a suit filed by Lee Rubber and Tire Corp., against the Camfield Tire and Tread Co.

A jury awarded Lee Rubber $2,037 for an alleged debt owned by Camfield but gave Camfield a $3,122 judgment against Lee Rubber because of defectiveness in some rubber sold to Camfield. Camfield netted $1,085 from the dual award.

The Supreme Court did not interfere with the award to Lee Rubber but ordered a new trial on the $3,122 award to Camfield on ground that the court erroneously permitted Camfield to compile records about business he lost as a result of the defective rubber.

For the third time, the Supreme Court refused to disturb the death sentence of Lonnie Mitchell, a 24-year-old Negro convicted in the rape of a 77-year-old white woman.

The court previously had affirmed Mitchell's original conviction and Union Circuit Court's refusal to set the verdict aside.

The third appeal came from Jefferson Circuit Court where Mitchell's attorneys filed a habeas corpus action against Prison Supl. Lee Henslee. The suit contended Mitchell's constitutional rights were being denied because only Negroes are sentenced to die for rape in Arkansas. It alleged further that Mitchell's confession used in the original trial, was not voluntary.

Jefferson Circuit Court rejected the contentions and the Supreme Court agreed with the finding.

In a Craighead County case, the Supreme Court affirmed a $1,000 judgment against the Peoples Indemnity Insurance Co., in favor of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Mashburn.

The Mashburns sued to collect insurance after rental dwelling they owned was destroyed by fire. The company contended it was not liable because the building was vacant at the time of the fire.

Cuba Still a Nation of Fear

EDITOR'S NOTE: What's the latest word from behind the "palm tree curtain" in Cuba? Richard Valeriani, National Broadcasting Company staffman, arrived in Miami Sunday in a plane load of refugees from Havana. A former Associated Press reporter in Cuba, Valeriani here tells his story for AP readers.

By RICHARD VALERIANI

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Three weeks after the short-lived anti-Castro invasion, fear and repression still rule Cuba.

Out of the chaos which now characterizes the sun-bathed island, only one pattern emerges clearly—the pattern of Communist dictatorship.

The Batista tyranny toppled more than two years ago by Fidel Castro has been replaced by a new tyranny, all the more fearful because of the haphazard manner in which it operates.

Havana today is in the hands of the military. All public buildings are sandbagged. Soldiers, teen-aged Young Rebels, militia-men and militia-women stand guard around the clock, their weapons slung carelessly about them.

Militiamen frisk all persons entering any public building. Women's handbags are searched minutely, down to tubes of lipstick. Visitors must open cigarette and match packs before entering hotels and other buildings.

How long this will go on is Castro's decision but anybody's guess. It appears that he will maintain the repressive measures instituted after the abortive invasion in order to retain the iron grip he now has on the country.

Castro's police machinery began spreading its reign of terror within a few hours after the announcement of the invasion April 17. Conservative estimates place the total at 50,000 arrested throughout the island, although news from the provinces is scant.

G-2 agents and militiamen, apparently working from prepared lists as well as from tips from government-organized spy committees in every neighborhood, began arresting "unreliables" indiscriminately.

The American press was a special target. Their offices were occupied and looted or both. Almost all the American correspondents were arrested or forced into hiding and refuge. AP staffer Robert Berrelez was arrested the afternoon of the invasion, held for more than two weeks by the G-2 and then transferred behind the grim walls of La Cabana prison, greatly overcrowded like the rest of the Cuban prisons.

Churches offered no haven. Militiamen surrounded them, closed the doors and searched the worshippers inside.

The jailing of priests was common. The arrests have diminished

Consumption of Cotton Still Up

TOKYO (AP)—A world cotton expert claimed today consumption of cotton had not decreased in the past four years despite a rapid increase of consumption in man-made fiber.

Robert Evans, secretary-general of the 20th plenary meeting of the International Cotton Advisory Committee, opening in Tokyo May 15-23, attributed the continuing strength of cotton to:

1. Reasonably low stable prices.
2. Great improvement of cotton goods.
3. Great increase in promotion programs.

"The cotton interests of the world," Evans said, "are not under any misapprehension about the serious competition from man-made fiber."

He admitted that in Japan cotton consumption had dropped from 68.3 per cent of all fibers in 1950 to 53.6 per cent in 1955 but rose again to 54.5 per cent in 1960.

Cotton's world share in all fibers was 64.8 per cent last year, he told a news conference at the Japanese Foreign Office.

He said it was true that this was partly because cotton was suitable to tropical importing countries.

He said world cotton production was expected to run some 400, 000 bales over what he called "disappearance" (consumption).

"But this is small considering that production last year was 47 million bales."

The Communist bloc, he said, imported 1,700,000 bales and exported 400,000 bales.

It revives a name used by a New York team in the American Association then a major circuit New York team in the American Association, then a major circuit, in 1883 to 1888.

Mrs. Charles Shiman Payson, majority stock holder in the new club, said she had received 644 names among the 9,613 replies to her plea for suggestions.

She christened the team today by breaking a champagne bottle with a baseball bat at a luncheon attended by Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, and Warren Giles, president of the National League.

TEMPER PROVES PAINFUL. LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP)—Add this to the hazards of a quick temper.

A physician treated a Lockport man for hand and wrist cuts, police said, after the man put his fist through the window of another motorist's car. They said the splintering punch followed a brief dispute over right of way.

No charges were pressed. Officers said a passenger explained: "That guy took a swing at my buddy but I guess he forgot there was a window in between."

Mrs. Shepard Looked for Great Day

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—"It's going to be a big day," said astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr.'s wife, as she greeted her hero husband today and embarked with him on a capital day of acclaim.

Five relatives shared with the young spaceman in his capital greeting.

It was a proud and smiling family group that waited at the ramp of the huge air force jet for Shepard.

His attractive, brunette wife, Louise, 34, welcomed her smiling husband with a big kiss.

She had flown today from Virginia Beach in a special NASA twin engine plane for the first meeting with her husband since he made his historic flight into space.

For the occasion, Mrs. Shepard wore a beige and white checked coat over a beige dress trimmed with checks and a pert cloche hat, with beige accessories.

She stood beaming alongside Shepard as he kissed his mother and mother-in-law and sister and shook hands with his father and father-in-law.

Leaving the ramp, chatting happily and laughing were the astronaut's parents, Col. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr., of East Derry, N.H.; his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Brewer of Kennet Square, Pa.; and his sister, Mrs. Gordon Sherman of North Attleboro, Mass.

In the glare of publicity the Shepards had little to say that anyone could hear. But, then taking his wife by the hand, Shepard moved forward to a small platform to make a thank you speech and to point out that much yet remained to be done.

His wife stood smiling by his side.

Then, together they boarded a Marine helicopter that whisked them to the White House lawn, a presidential greeting, and the big day that Louise Shepard had so accurately predicted.

Absent from the triumphant scene, however, were Shepard's two young daughters, Laura, 13, and Juliana 10 who did not accompany their mother to Washington from their Virginia Beach home. Presumably they were sharing in the event by television.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy greeted the astronaut and his party as they arrived at the White House.

Mrs. Shepard then accompanied her hero-husband and the rest of the group to the historic green room to the presidential mansion for coffee.

Public Asked to Display Flags

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has proclaimed next Sunday Mothers Day—calling for display of the national flag at all public buildings and private homes.

The President called on citizens to "manifest through private and public expressions the reverent esteem in which we hold our mothers."

"The American mother, as the heart of the American home, by her labor and love instills in our gincer at Little Rock, said three main dams in north Arkansas should be able to contain the rivers. Table Rock Reservoir near Branson, Mo., is near the top of the flood control pool. Jacoby said but any water which might be released there could be handled in Bull Shoals Reservoir immediately downstream.

Table Rock was at 926.1 feet Monday and a crest of 930.921 is expected. The top of the flood control pool is 931 feet. Bull Shoals, however, is at 660.7 feet, far below the record height of 694.4 feet.

The Cossatot, Holling Fork and Saline rivers in Sevier County also flooded some areas. An estimated 120 head of cattle died in the lowlands. One stockman, John Frachiseur, reported loss of 92 head on his Cossatot River farm.

The White River posed flood threats at several points but Gov. Orval E. Faubus said things would be worse without three huge federal dams and numerous private dams in the area. "It's bad enough," he said. "But except for those dams it would have been much worse."

The Arkansas River posed no immediate flood threat.

Harrison, in which 80 per cent of the businesses were wiped out, made several recuperative steps Monday. Doctors gave typhoid shots to 2,500 and more inoculations were scheduled today. Two truckloads of surplus commodities from Little Rock arrived Monday. The town's water supply still was condemned but a 50 horse power electric motor was being installed to aid in purification. The Red Cross was giving emergency food and clothing aid.

Businessmen and volunteers put their backs to the seemingly endless chore of sweeping up and rebuilding. Most merchants said they wouldn't be driven out of business.

Five persons were killed in tornadoes near Dover, Yellville and Midland between Friday and Sunday. Dragging operations for the body of 19-year-old Carroll Evans of Springdale, who drowned Sunday while working on a flood-ravaged creek, proved futile Monday.

Windstorms hit Marvell and Pfeiffer Monday and a tornado ripped St. Joe as the fierce weather swept out of the state. At Marvell, several businesses and homes were unroofed and telephone and electric service was disrupted. The streets were flooded for a time. Damage was light at Pfeiffer. No injuries were reported at either town.

At St. Joe, barns were unroofed and several houses were damaged by a funnel, but no one was hurt.

U. S. Ready to Knock Out Filibuster

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration appears ready to postpone action on major civil rights bills in exchange for a rules revision in this session making it easier to curbe Senate filibusters.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today efforts to revise the rule requiring approval of two-thirds of those voting to limit Senate debate will precede action on an administration package of civil rights measures introduced Monday.

Mansfield made it clear that even before the rule change is brought up, he hopes to have most of President Kennedy's general legislative program out of the way.

"Otherwise," he said, "we might have a long, drawn-out struggle in the Senate that might endanger the unfinished aspects of the President's program."

Mansfield left little doubt that

Clark said that he will ask for Senate action on some of his bills. But he conceded he isn't very Bonaventure.

Love Is More Than Sex

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I am a 19-year-old university coed, majoring in a technical subject in order to work abroad. But I'm afraid that I will marry before I have a chance to mature and fulfill my plans for travel.

I find myself sizing up the male friends to whom I am most attracted. I'm not husband-searching but am curious about the qualities I am looking for. Is it possible to rush blindly into marriage without at least sensing danger?

My parents have certain ideas about the type of person I would be happy with. How can I make my choice wisely, separately, in order to form a stronger, more flexible marriage than I could conceive of from my present knowledge of family life? I keep wondering if college, work and travel is worth going through in the face of marriage. — Young.

Dear Young: Don't be snared by the biological urge. College, work and travel are worth the sacrifice. If you stick to your goal you'll be far better equipped to pick the right man and what's more, you'll make a better wife.

Dear Helen: A friend needs help. Mother and gun come first with her husband. He is a deputy sheriff in the state where his mother lives and won't come home. My friend quit her job to be with him but he sent her and the child back. She still loves him and is trying hard to save their new home. He's been seen riding other women in his prowl car. Do you think it would help to tell all this to his boss, the sheriff? — J. K.

Dear J. K.: No. Husband and wife are likely to turn on you. It's happened before to peacemakers. And this husband totes a gun so watch your step. If your friend wants advice, ask her to write me directly.

Dear Helen: My boy friend, whom I haven't seen for 16 months because of service overseas, recently returned. He didn't write for a long time. When he is at my house, I don't want him to come near me, but when he is on the base, I wish he were here. I tell myself that I am never going to see him again, then the thought makes me break out in tears. I am utterly confused. Should I tell this boy to leave me alone, or let things work out themselves?

This boy would never do anything to hurt me, is considerate of my mother and father, and they both like him very much. I am 18 and he 21. — Confused

Dear Confused: Absence doesn't always make the heart grow fonder, especially for the one who goes away. Your soldier may have card-indexed you in his mind as friend, not sweetheart. Play it cool. If he really cares, this cold-water treatment will wake him up.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "The Way to a Boy's Heart."

Yanks Taking New Players to Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The New York Yankees who open a two-game series here tonight, have been bolstered in two departments by a trade with the Los Angeles Angels. It was a deal in which the Angels gambled on Ryne Duren and "youth."

The Bronx bombers, hard up for late-inning relief pitching and right-handed pinch hitting, got Truman Clevenger and slugger E. Cerv. In return they gave the Angels Duren, a hard-throwing but often erratic relief pitcher; pitcher Johnny James; outfielder Leroy Thomas; and an unnamed outfielder.

"We wanted Clevenger," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk, "to be a finisher on our relief staff. (Luis Arroyo has been doing all of the late-inning work and we needed someone to help him.)"

Clevenger, a 28-year-old right-hander, has pitched superbly in relief for the Angels, appearing in 12 games and permitting an average of less than two earned runs. He has a 2-1 record.

Duren, 31, one of the hardest throwing pitchers in the majors, was the Yankees' ace reliever in 1958 and 1959, when he posted era's of 2.01 and 1.87. He's been effective this year, but, said Angels Mgr. Mgr. Fred Haney in Los Angeles:

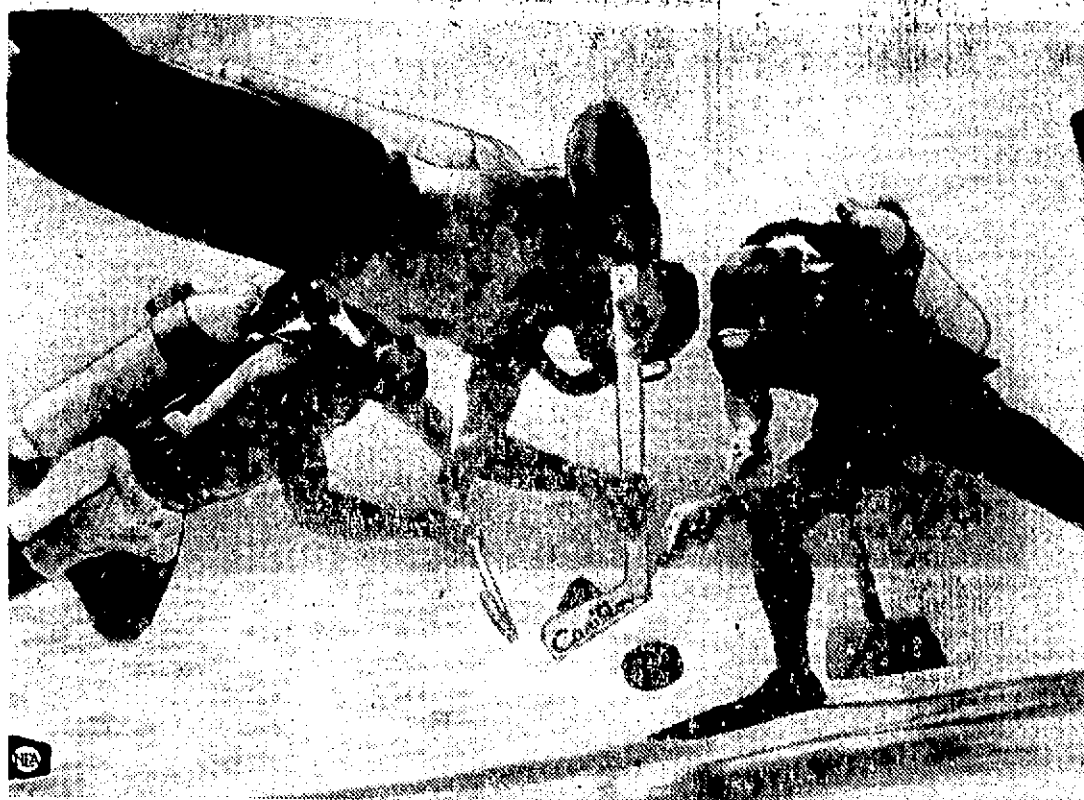

"I think Duren will be a better pitcher for us over the long haul than Clevenger. I didn't want to peddle Clevenger and tried two or three other guys in there, but I couldn't make a deal that was. I'll be panned on this deal, but I don't give a damn who wins the pennant this year if we can't."

The youngsters in the deal are Thomas, 25, James, 28, and maybe the unnamed outfielder.

Thomas, who bats left handed and throws right, hit .246 for Richmond of the International League last season. In two times at bat for the Yankees this season he had one hit.

James, a right-hander, posted a 4.40 ERA with New York last year, winning five games and losing one. He also won three and lost two for Richmond.

This will be the veteran Cerv's third stretch with the Yankees, interspersed by tours with Kansas City and the Angels. He had his best season in 1958, when he hit .305 for Kansas City. He appeared in 19 games for Los Angeles, but was hitting only about .200.

Ex-Phil Beats Old Mates for the Dodgers

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Right-hander Dick Farrell, paying a quick return for Los Angeles after last week's trade with Philadelphia, beat his old mates with four innings of four-hit, shut-out relief Monday night as the Dodgers beat the Phils 4-3 in 10 innings. The only other National League game scheduled, San Francisco-Pittsburgh, was rained out.

Los Angeles defeated Boston 6-5 in the only American League game scheduled, despite a home run by Jackie Jensen in his second return to the Red Sox.

The Dodgers were shut out on four hits by Dallas Green for six innings, then tied it 3-3 with two out in the seventh on a scoring single by Maury Wills and a two-run homer by Willie Davis. They finally put it away when losing reliever Chris Short (0-1) walked Wally Moon with two out in the 10th and Gil Hodges rapped a pinch double.

Farrell took over after starter Stan Williams was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh. He walked two, struck out four and nailed the victory by throwing out Tony Taylor with two men on base in the 10th after two-out singles by pinch-hitters Clay Dalrymple and Tony Curry.

The Angels, after trading ten bullpen man Tex Clevenger to the New York Yankees in a six-player swap, barely saved their victory over the Red Sox with a two-man relief job by Ted Bowsfield and Tom Morgan. Bowsfield followed starter Ken McBride, who was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the fifth inning, and was tagged for Jensen's first home run by pinch-hitter Carroll Hardy for the final run, but then retired seven of the last eight men he faced.

McBride (2-2) was the winner, giving up three runs in the fifth—one unearned on center fielder Albie Pearson's second error of the frame—after the Angels had built a 5-0 lead against loser Gene Conley.

Jensen who jumped the Red Sox a week ago, walked twice and singled in addition to his home run. He is now 8-for-48, for a .167 average, and has driven in two runs.

The Angels' trade with New York sent Bob Cerv, a $75,000 pick from the player pool in the AL's expansion move, back to the Yankees along with Clevenger for reliever Ryne Duren, right-hander Johnny James, rookie outfielder Leroy Thomas and a minor league outfielder to be named.

Hogs Prepare for Game Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks today begin a three-workout countdown to Saturday's Red-White intra-squad football game in Little Rock.

The Hogs were rained out of a scheduled scrimmage session Monday. But Coach Frank Broyles slated tough defensive workouts today, Wednesday and Thursday to make up for it.

Saturday's game winds up spring training.

Man Still Missing on Little River

ASHDOWN, Ark. (AP)—A 53-year-old Texarkana man disappeared while on a Little River fishing trip over the weekend.

Search parties and river dragging parties have failed to find a trace of him.

Deputy Sheriff Eddie Craig said Marvin Mills, 53, owner of a new Texarkana dry goods store, went to his cabin on Little River with his brother, Archie Mills of Texarkana, Friday night.

Craig quoted Archie as saying he went back to Texarkana Saturday to attend to business and when he returned, his brother was missing.

Meanwhile, Fred Mills of Ashdown (no relation) had gone to the cabin and found Mills' billfold and watch.

Twenty boats dragged the river over the weekend and about 20 men on horseback combed the nearby woods.

Claim Red Removed His Own Appendix

MOSCOW (AP)—A young Soviet physician, marooned by a blizzard at a research station in the arctic, removed his own appendix in surgery lasting almost two hours, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

He was reported recovering and was able to walk again.

The dispatch made no mention of anesthesia and said the physician performed the operation, "in spite of severe pain," with the help of a mechanic and a meteorologist from the station's 12-man complement.

Pro Gridder Is Jailed in Ky.

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—George Ratterman, pro football player and a reform candidate for sheriff of Campbell County, was arrested today along with a woman who was charged with prostitution.

Police said three detectives found Ratterman in a room with April Flowers, 26.

Ratterman, 38, was charged with disorderly conduct, breach of peace and resisting arrest.

Ratterman, former Cleveland Browns quarterback, was picked last month by a new reform group, called the "Committee of 500," as its choice for an independent candidate for sheriff.

Ratterman, an investment counselor in Cincinnati, Ohio, said at the time he would take the reform post only if the group intended a thorough cleanup of the county.

There was no comment from the reform group which picked Ratterman as its candidate to wipe out alleged gambling and vice in the area.

Ratterman, whose whereabouts were unknown, made no comment at the time of his arrest.

Iran Threatened

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Premier-designate Ali Amini says complete economic breakdown threatens Iran because resources have been wasted and government officials have been greedy.

The government's financial structures "are in their last breath," Dr. Amini said in a nationwide broadcast Sunday. He asked Iranians to help revive the economy by increasing production and by cutting needless expenditures.

Fulton Elementary School will present its annual closing program at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 10.

The State Youth Congress of the Church of God in Christ of Southwest Arkansas will convene at the Pentecostal Temple, 911 Bell Street, May 9-13. Theme of the meeting is "Christian Youth's Challenge in Today's World."

The topic for discussion on today's program was "Since Education is the process by which we are fitted to make our best contribution, is Christian Education Necessary for Christian Leadership?" Elder O. N. Dennis, state president; Mrs. Elsie M. Greer, state field worker.

Yerger Play — "Lights Out!" Agnes Harwood inherits a mansion from her uncle, the late Albert Silwell. She and her daughter, Doris Harwood, return from the West Coast to dispose of the estate. Agnes invites the prospective purchasers to the mansion with the hope that one of them will buy the property over the weekend.

A pleasant house party and a possible buyer for the estate were all Agnes expected when she invited the guests. But what a night of thrills and chills lay ahead for both guests and hostesses!

Be sure to see "Lights Out!" a 3-Act Mystery Comedy, presented by the senior class of Yerger High, in Harris Gym, Thursday night, May 11 at 8. Advance tickets 15, 25 and 35 cents; at the door, 15, 35 and 50 cents.

The Hope Civic Improvement Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at Hicks Funeral Home Thursday, May 11 at 7:30 p.m. All members and interested citizens are asked to be present. H. L. Washington, president.

Senate Commends U. S. Spaceman

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate by unanimous voice vote today passed a resolution expressing "highest commendation" of Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., the first American spaceman.

The resolution went to the House for an expected swift concurring vote.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, introduced the resolution praising the astronaut's courage, dedication and skill in advancing the cause of "the exploration of space for peaceful purposes."

Copies of the resolution will be presented to Shepard and the other astronauts, to any of whom the honor of the first manned space probe might have fallen.

In a speech to the Senate, Mansfield suggested the nation "could do with less talk about prestige and a better understanding of the significance of space exploration for our way of life."

Camera Got Valuable Information

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Color films taken by three automatic cameras in Alan B. Shepard Jr.'s space capsule are providing valuable information about his pioneering flight.

A still 70mm camera snapped pictures through the periscope which gave Shepard his "beautiful view" of the earth. A 16mm movie camera attached to the instrument panel recorded Shepard's facial reactions and hand movements. Another was aimed over his shoulder at the numerous lights and dials on the instrument panel.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration over the weekend released a few black and white prints from the periscope and pilot reaction cameras. The color negatives from which they were made were more detailed. One periscope shot showed the eastern coastline of the United States from the tip of Florida to Cape Hatteras, N.C., from an altitude of 90-100 miles. Several small clouds were visible.

This was taken about three minutes after launch, about the time Shepard called out by radio his now famous quote: "What a beautiful view."

Clergyman Dies at Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP)—Dr. Marshall Wingfield, 68, widely known clergyman and a former national commander of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, died Sunday night after a four-month illness.

Dr. Wingfield retired as pastor of the First Congregational Church here three years ago. Since then, his pulpits supply work took him to many churches around the country, including three summers at the First Congregational Church in Portland, Ore.

a small drogue parachute and its container drifting toward the ocean after they jettisoned from the spacecraft about nine minutes after launch. Shepard had shifted the periscope from "low" to "high" magnification for this shot.

The reaction camera, located about four feet from Shepard's face, produced 200 feet of film covering the entire ride. It took four frames a minute.

Color film was used primarily for medical reasons. Doctors wanted to detect any skin color change during flight.

Orbit Try by July, Pilot Says

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Navy pilot said today astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. told him an attempt will be made to put a man into orbit before the first of July.

Lt. Cmdr. E.T. Wilbur, who piloted the plane that flew Shepard from the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain to Grand Bahama Island after Friday's space shot, told a Ledger-Star reporter that Shepard "indicated he would be the next one to go into space." "He also indicated that the next space flight would be in the next 20 days and that the orbital flight would be before the first of July," Wilbur said.

The conversation took place during the flight from the Lake Champlain to Grand Bahama Island, Wilbur said.

Attendance Good at State Parks

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Early reports of attendance at state parks indicated a good year, Parks Director Bryan Stearns said today.

"I'll be real disappointed if attendance doesn't approach four million," Stearns said. Last year's record attendance topped three million.

"We've got better roads into the parks and we've publicized the parks more than ever before," Stearns said. "It should be a great year if we have good weather."

Stearns doesn't think the national recession will cut into park use. Quite the opposite.

"We find that as money gets tighter, people curtail extended travel and visit nearby state parks," he said. "Vacation money is one of the first things you can economize on."

The result, Stearns believes, will be greater use of the parks by Arkansas residents. This increase will more than make up for any loss in tourist use, he feels.

Early attendance figures are incomplete, principally because some northwest Arkansas park facilities did not open until mid-April. But Stearns said the few reports which have trickled into his office are enough to make him optimistic.

The Publicity and Park Commission operates 12 state parks and four state historical monuments. All facilities at all locations are operating now.

The 1961 Legislature designated four new parks or monuments — Jenkins Ferry near Sheridan, Poison Spring near Camden, Marks Mill near Rison and Louisiana Purchase Survey Point where Phillips, Monroe and Lee counties come together.

The odds are slim, Stearns said, that any of these parks will be put into use this year.

"We can't do a thing until the state gets title to the land," he said. "I've visited some of these places and told them about what we have in mind. The next move

TO HAVE AND TO KILL

CHAPTER XX

I entered the cottage, crossed to Stockmaster and stooped down. He was breathing heavily but regularly. I wondered how long he had been sleeping there.

An empty bourbon bottle was on the floor beside him and a cigarette had burned out on his floor nearby, leaving a black grove in the polished hardwood.

I knelt beside Stockmaster and gently went through his pockets. He still wore the gray flannel slacks, the blue polo shirt and the cashmere jacket. He was as limp as a sleeping baby and did not stir as I searched him. I found his wallet first. It contained $122 in bills, a Florida driver's license and various cards. There was also a snapshot of Laura Reynolds posed fetchingly in a white bikini against a background of palm trees. Other pockets yielded a handful of coins, a white linen handkerchief, the gold pen clipped in the shirt pocket, the leatherbound notebook, three letters in envelopes, two bearing the return address of a New York literary agent, the third flimsy blue airmail letter from a London publishing house. I didn't read the contents of any of them.

No gun.

I decided to leave him where he was for the present and not try to arouse him. He would be dead to the world for some time, at least until the police arrived.

I was beginning to get uneasy. Cecil should be back by now. I gazed up toward the house and is up to them."

Stearns said some effort was being made to obtain land at each location. Sponsors of the Jenkins Ferry and Poison Springs Park bills promised that land would be provided without cost to the state. No such promise was made at the other locations.

The value of Arkansas mineral production for 1960 is estimated at nearly 160 billion dollars, an increase of about 12 per cent over the previous year.

"All right, Jim," Cecil looked saw him then, conspicuous in his white jacket as he crossed the terrace and descended the steps. I walked to meet him and when I stood facing him he gazed beyond me at the body beneath the robe.

I said, "You want to see her?" He shook his head quickly. "It's just a little hole in her chest," I said.

"I'll take your word for it, Jim." His eyes were a little sick. "I don't like to look at dead people."

"You saw plenty in Korea." "That was different." He took a deep breath.

"The cops coming?" "He shrugged, avoiding my gaze. "I did my best. I called the sheriff's office from the gas station, got a deputy who said he was alone and couldn't leave. He didn't sound too bright. I hung up and drove over there—about six miles. I told the deputy what had happened here, but he said he couldn't do anything about it until the sheriff returned from investigating a chicken theft across the county. The only other deputy is up in Michigan on vacation. He did say he would try and locate the sheriff."

"Don't they have radio communication?" "No. We're really out in the sticks here, Jim."

"You sure are. Why didn't you tell the deputy to call the state police?"

"Said the sheriff would be sore if he went over his head." "I thought I'd better check with you first."

"My God," I said, jerking a thumb over my shoulder, "that poor woman has been lying there for over an hour now."

She was no friend of mine, but she was human and she's dead. I'm not going to let her lie out there in the sun all day." I tapped Cecil's chest with a forefinger.

"You go to a phone and call the nearest state troopers' barracks. You hear?"

"All right, Jim," Cecil looked at me directly. "Don't get in an uproar."

"It's all right," I broke in. "When you came back, did you see anyone around the house?"

"Just Florine and Doris in the kitchen. I didn't tell them anything."

"Good," I nodded toward the beach cottage. "Stockmaster, by the way, is in there on the floor, dead drunk."

Cecil's eyes widened. "Then he must have been down here when —"

"Shut up," I snarled. "Get going."

The expression on Cecil's face closed like a trap. He turned abruptly and walked swiftly away over the sand toward the steps leading up to the terrace.

I felt responsible for the handling of the situation until the proper officials arrived. There was much to be done, but I couldn't swing it alone. I couldn't even begin the preliminaries because I did not want to leave my post.

I walked over the sand, skirting the body by the sundial, and went to the cottage.

He was awake, if one can consider a person awake who is sitting hunched over against a wall, his chin on his chest, muttering to himself in a thick, unintelligible voice. I snapped my cigarette away, entered, went over and stood gazing down at him with distaste. I drink, sure, to much on occasion, but I had never been in the state Stockmaster was in now. I nudged his leg with a foot, not too gently, and said, "Hey, you."
